Local Lingo

Saints are friendly and curious people, and are interested in anyone they don't know or recognise, so do not be surprised if you are asked...

Who you is? Who are you?

Where you stay? Where are you staying or living?

How you? How are you?

You will also find that people will say hello when passing in the street, and will wave at other drivers on the road - it's part of the charm of St Helena.

Local Lingo

English is St Helena's first language. Due to our descent from a concoction of nations, our tongue has evolved into a unique way of speaking. Here are some common terms we use:

Chips Crisps

Couple Several (and usually is more than 2)
"One nice couple" could be anything from 6+!

'Eierce' Yes

'dis' now (Just now) soon or much later

See you Goodbye
